

Green and proud

Bridge of Weir Leather Company, part of the Scottish Leather Group, is rightly proud of its 'green' credentials. They not only believe that leather is an environmentally viable product, but that it can be produced in an environmentally responsible manner. The company, which manufactures top quality leather, has made substantial investment, which has made them one of the most modern and environmentally efficient leather manufacturers in the world. In order to address environmental and sustainability issues head on, the Group set up SLG Technology in 2008, whose main purpose is to implement the subsidiary companies' environmental policies across the board and look at new ways to reduce their carbon footprint. Working on projects in automotive, technology, hospitality and commercial interiors, Bridge of Weir Leather has a hand-picked sales team that looks after their niche markets and ensures that customer's environmental requirements are met. For further information telephone 01505 612 132 or visit www.bowleather.co.uk

Releasing passion

Passion is a beguiling new collection of drapery polyesters embellished with contemporary satin embroidery, which has just been released by Prestigious Textiles. Created for lustrous window dressing and coordinating scatter cushions, Passion comprises two contrasting floral trails – the dramatic peonies of Patricia and flowing chrysanthemums of Penelope – plus a boldly interpreted yarrow head design called Petra. The shimmering silken backdrop enhances the tactile appeal of all three, which is also available as the complementary plain Penny. Passion by Prestigious is available in a suite of on-trend colourways including Lichen, Cinnamon, Champagne, Oyster, Latte, Fuchsia, Plum, Violet and Silver. PHILIPS

Turnkey operation

The Spaceway Group's ability to provide a complete turnkey operation has resulted in the company winning the contract to fit out a prestigious and functional UK headquarters for Aurora World Ltd. The Spaceway Group co-project managed the fit out and ensured that all work was carried out in accordance with the Disability Discrimination Act (DDA) and under the Construction Design Management (CDM) Act 1994 relating to health and safety regulations. To maximise space for the warehouse, Spaceway suggested the installation of a FloorTall™ mezzanine floor. Once this structural work had been completed, Spaceway fitted out the 30,000 sq. ft. warehouse with racking to create 2,500 pallet positions in a narrow aisle configuration. The 5,000 sq. foot of office accommodation was fitted out with Komfort Kameo partitioning, suspended ceilings to create an impressive layout consisting of open plan offices, chairman's office, boardroom, kitchen, etc. To complete the project, Spaceway installed an air conditioning and ventilation system, warehouse heating, electrics and lighting. Kitchens, a canteen and toilets were also designed and installed in the building. For further information telephone 01794 83560, email sales@spaceway.co.uk or visit www.spaceway.co.uk
